Special Commencement Issue 2020

Flores is UPV's Class 2020 Valedictorian

"GRADUATING as valedictorian this year seems to be anticlimactic due to the pandemic, nevertheless it is still a blessing for me to receive this distinction. It is quite sad for me since we were not able to march this year and celebrate with our families and friends. As we will be joining the graduation rites of our friends who are graduating next year, I am hopeful that things will be better by then.

These are the thoughts of Elizalde Miguel S. Flores, UPV's valedictorian of Class 2020. Flores earned this distinction by graduating with the highest GWA of 1.329, magna cum laude, among his peers. His grades were numerical. The BS Chemical in Engineering graduate is also the first valedictorian of the School of Technology.

He added that being a valedictorian is a blessing because all the efforts and sacrifices that he made bore fruit and led him to this achievement.

Looking back at how the semester was abruptly interrupted by COVID19 wherein face-to-face classes had to hastily moved to online learning, Flores said that the hardest part "enduring the slow internet connection" as he complied with his online requirements, in addition to having to buy data load to go online.

"There were some connectivity issues which hindered me to search for academic websites and to communicate with my groupmates. However, I overcame these problems by doing my tasks one step at a time and fortunately I was able to comply all my requirements," he added.

Flores said that he wants to be in the teaching profession. "Since I was in third year college, I have this vision of becoming a teacher. As a graduate in the midst of the pandemic that hit our country and the world, I am still looking forward to entering the workforce. In the midst of the COVID-19 pandemic, the challenge for us future teachers, is to be adaptable and compassionate; adaptable to new methods of learning and compassionate to those who will find it difficult to access these new methods."

Lastly, we should always be reminded to live by the motto, 'serve the people.' This is what UP taught me, to use my skills to help our country in continuing on the path to progress particularly in improving the life of our people. But for now, I think the first order of business is to help our country recover from this pandemic." (Lyncen M. Fernandez)

Bandoja is CM top student

EDMAR D. Bandoja graduated as magna cum laude in the five-year BS in Accountancy degree program of the College of Management. With a GWA of 1.332, he has attained the highest mark in his college, and the second highest in UPV.

He said that he wants to work as soon as possible in the midst of this pandemic because he is the expected breadwinner of his family.

"They need me now more than ever. The current situation further compelled me to find work as soon as possible since this pandemic continuously affects one of my parent's source of income. My college degree will provide me opportunities better than what my parents currently have. After all their sacrifices and efforts to help me, it is now my turn to pay them back including those who helped me achieve my dreams.

When asked how he felt to be CM's top student, he has this to say:

"It was humbling. I came from a small town with almost a little, or no background of accounting.

Mary Gold is the lone cum laude of CFOS

MARY Gold R. David is the lone graduate of the College of Fisheries and Ocean Sciences with honors, cum laude.

When asked what her thoughts are on graduating in the midst of pandemic she has this to say:

“Looking at how difficult it is to conduct an online graduation, the technical aspects and what nots, I am at peace. But mentally and emotionally, it is distressing. Not only for me but certainly for the rest of the Iskolar ng Bayans who already envisioned themselves proudly wearing their sablays in June of this year when UP would have its graduation ceremonies. Nevertheless, everyone’s safety is the topmost priority given the global health crisis we are facing right now.

This pandemic teaches us to value health and family more than ever. Most importantly, witnessing this crisis and other crisis we can think of and despite the cancellation of the graduation exercises this year, I believe that these cannot affect the pride and sense of achievement that the graduating Iskolar ng Bayans have. UP will always deeply inspire and constantly remind us that we are for the people. And that we shall serve this nation better.”

(Lyncen M. Fernandez)

MAYONA Paula T. Alcalá leads the graduates of UP Visayas Tacloban College. The BS Accountancy major shared her thoughts on life after graduation and seeking employment in the midst of the pandemic.

“My immediate thoughts at the moment

Alcalá leads UPVTC graduates

is preparing for the board exam. But thinking about the next step, that is finding work, has been stressful given the predicament that our country and the whole world is facing. With pressing social issues that are rampant in the midst of this global pandemic, I often ask myself if reviewing for the CPA bar is what I should I be doing now.

This pandemic has certainly changed me and the entire world. It made us stop and think about matters most – it revived the bayanihan spirit and strengthened familial relationships.

If this pandemic continues until the time I join the workforce, maybe I would still be as scared and uncertain as I am today. But I think it is okay to feel that way. Accepting these sentiments, instead of brushing them off and pretending that everything is going to be alright, is facing reality. It will help us grow and mature. Because even with these emotions, there is still hope in my heart.

During my college days, UP has always reminded me to serve the people; to not just be honorable or excellent, but also to be compassionate towards our fellowmen. I know that such conviction also exist in the heart of many Filipinos.

I am now quite excited to meet those people in the “real world” and be with them in the service of building a better tomorrow.
(Lyncen M. Fernandez)

Simply graduating from the program was already a big achievement for me. On top of that, I felt very grateful because these would not have been possible without those people who supported me throughout my studies. I owe it all to them.”

How did his family celebrate his achievement? “My family congratulated me. And since I have already started my review preparations for the upcoming CPA Licensure Exam, that was more than

Looking back at the five rough and tough years of studying to earn his degree, he pointed that commitment to his goals in life, believing in himself, and the inspiration and motivation of relatives and friends made him persevere.

“UP trained me to become independent, open-minded, and one who is able to fully grasp the value of time,” he says of his UP education.
(Lyncen M. Fernandez)

Araneta shines in CAS amidst pandemic

A Bachelor of Arts major in Literature-History leads the graduates of the College of Arts and Sciences at the end of Academic Year 2019-2020.

Darlene Kaye Araneta graduated as magna cum laude for having earned a GWA of 1.437.

Like most graduates that were caught in the midst of the still raging pandemic, she shared her thoughts on this.

“Graduating in the midst of this pandemic feels inordinately surreal - it’s like going through some sort of a ‘defamiliarization.’ There is joy with the knowledge that you now have your degree, but there is also grief for the collective vulnerabilities, the cancelled plans, the uncertainties. With the usual reality and timelines disintegrated, it can feel really difficult to establish some sense of security.

I hope that we can all get through this pandemic, and that we continue to demand more and hold everyone accountable - with some more than others.” (Lyncen M. Fernandez)

Binabati ko kayo mga iskolar nga bayan sa inyong pagtatapos sa UP nating mahal!

Kayo ay nabibilang sa ka tangi-tanging Batch 2020. Natatangi, sapagkat kayo ay nasipagtapos sa panahon ng isang pandemya. Na kahit pa napa-ikli ng pandemyang ito, ang inyong paglagi at pag aaral sa loob ng ating pamantasan; ay buong husay at tapang naman ninyong hinarap ang lahat ng hamon ng pagkakataon, at matagumpay kayong nakaraos sa mga kursong inyo ngayong tinapos.

Totoo nga na kakaiba ang seremonya ng pagtatapos sa ating bansa ngayon. Subalit, hindi man ninyo nararanasan ang kaabang-abang ang tradisyong tulad ng pagsusuot ng ating sablay, pagawad ng mga titulo at karangalan, o paglahok sa mga lightning rally kaya – kayo ay tunay pa ring mga gradweyt at ngayon ay tunay na mga alumni na ng UP. Taos puso pa rin nating pinagdiriwang ang okasyong ito gaya ng mga nag daang araw ng pagtatapos. Pinasasalamatan natin ang lahat ng ating nakasama sa makabuluhang paglalakbay na ito.

Sa mga nakalipas na buwan, natutunan natin kung paano harapin ang kakaibang sitwasyon sa kasaysayan ng ating daigdig at lipunan. Ang pag harap sa sakit na COVID 19. Bagamat hindi pa lubos na natatapos ang panganib na sanhi ng nasabing sakit, ating tandaan na hindi biro ang pag hubog , pagsasanay, at pag handang binahagi sa inyo ng UP upang matagumpayan ninyong sama-sama anomang hamon ang inyong kakaharapin.

Ating tandaan na ang panahon ng krisis ay hindi lang isang masamang panaginip. Ito rin ay isang pagkakataon upang tayo ay lalong mag punyagi, mag pakahusay, at makapag lingkod sa bayan. Isabuhay natin ang diwa ng UP, ang pagkakaisa, ang paglilingkod ng buong husay at dangal. At patunayan natin na walang hangganan ang pag-aambag ng ating unibersidad at nang kanyang mga alumni sa paghahanap at paglalapat ng mga epektibong alternatibo at solusyon sa ano mang suliranin.

Su tulong ng inyong mga propesor, kamag-aral at mga kasama sa kolehiyo, mga organisasyong kinabibilangan, naibigay ng UP ang lahat ng aralin at kasanayan sa loob ng mahigit na maikling panahon at sa pamamagitan ng iba-ibang pamamaraan ng pagtuturo. Dapat nating mapagtanto na ang tunay at higit na makabuluhang pagkatuto ay sa labas ng ating pamantasan. Kayo ang Batch 2020 ang unang henerasyon na nasipag tapos na iskolar ng bayan sa panahon ng pandemyang COVID 19. Inaasahan kong kayo ay mangunguna sa pagbabangon sa ating bayan mula sa lusak ng trahedyang ito. Gamitin sana ninyo ng wasto ang karunungan ng tatak UP. Buong giting at husay nawa ninyong gampanan ang pagiging mabuting Filipino, na may utak at puso para sa kapwa at sa bayan.

Muli binabati ko kayo sa makasaysayan at makabuluhang okasyon na ito. Gabayan nawa kayo ng Poong Maykapal!

MESSAGE

My warmest congratulations to the graduates of 2020!

Your graduation came at a difficult time when the world is experiencing a pandemic that is unparalleled and has affected everyone. COVID 19 denied you the normal experience of a festive celebration on campus with your family and the entire community, but we are cheering on as you receive your diploma. It has denied you from wearing the most coveted Sablay, the applause of your teachers, and the trimmings of a commencement ceremony, including the sunflower.

We will ensure, however, that when this pandemic is over – you will have the option of marching on stage. The austere episode of 2020 should not dissuade you. Let the UP spirit inside you and the banner of honor, excellence, and service be your drive as you get on with your life as a graduate of UP Visayas. More than anything, strive to serve the Filipino people. Do your share in helping the country survive this tumultuous pandemic environment.

We know that your professors and mentors in UP Visayas have honed your competence. The experience you gained was not fully dependent on your classroom experiences but from various activities outside its walls that UP has allowed you to explore and encouraged you to express your freedom. These events have made you more adept in knowing societies' needs and have molded your competence. UPV is certain that as new alumni of this university, you have what it takes to flourish in any field you chose. I and the rest of the UPV community wish you well.

Padayon!
